Amtekco has built thousands of pieces of food prep and merchandising equipment for over 38 years!

No one understands the needs of convenience stores better than Amtekco. We design and build all of our equipment at state-of-the-art facilities in Columbus and London, Ohio. We provide standard and custom wood manufacturing and stainless steel fabricating capabilities. Our longevity in the food marketing industry reflects our philosophies to provide unparalleled customer service and build the highest quality products on the market.

Our highly qualified staff designs and manufactures equipment that creates the highest return per square foot in your c-store.

With more than 96,000 convenience stores in the U.S. today, competition is fierce. Our sales engineers spend much of their time in the field, researching and developing new equipment to generate higher traffic levels and higher profit margins. As your partner, we work with you to design low-maintenance fixtures that meet NSF standards and cost-effectively utilize space. That's why convenience store decision makers depend on us to develop convenient solutions for maximum impact in limited spatial configurations.

Amtekco is the only resource you'll need to create fresh, inviting displays that bring customers back day after day.

No size, configuration or finish is too tough for Amtekco. Many standard items are available, or we can design a custom solution to meet your store's specific needs. Our value engineered products are extremely cost-efficient and our turnaround is very timely. Many Quick Ship items also are available for immediate delivery. Whether you need a single item or an entire store of equipment, Amtekco will be your partner to help you map out a solution.
